

GRANDFACTS

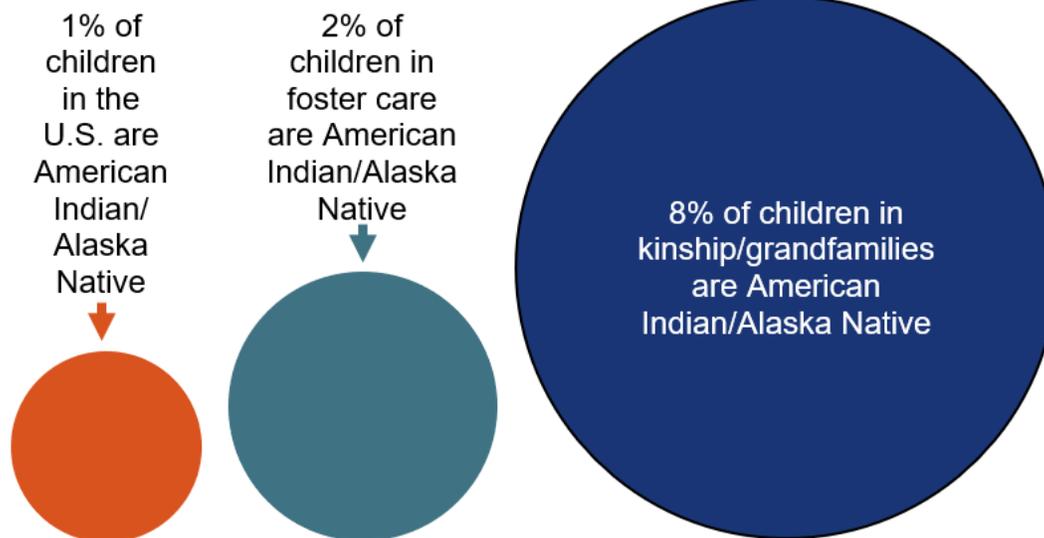

Confederated Tribes of Grand Ronde

This fact sheet includes local and national data and information on the Confederated Tribes of Grand Ronde programs that can assist kinship/grandfamilies. GrandFacts fact sheets for each state and the District of Columbia are also available online.

American Indian and Alaska Native Children Disproportionately Live in Grandfamilies

While the overrepresentation of American Indian and Alaska Native (AI/AN) children in kinship/grandfamilies is likely a product of the centuries-long shameful treatment of this community by the United States and the many inequities this community continues to face, it is also a reflection of their cultural strengths and resilience. As of February 2024, of the 188 Indian Child Welfare Act protected children in Oregon Department of Human Services custody, 29.8% (56 children) were placed in relative foster family homes.

Confederated Tribes of Grand Ronde Programs That May Help

The Confederated Tribes of Grand Ronde (CTGR) includes over 30 tribes and bands from western Oregon, northern California, and southwest Washington. Tribal bands include the Kalapuya, Molalla, Shasta, Umpqua, Rogue River, Chinook, and Tillamook. The CTGR Reservation spans 11,500 acres in Yamhill County, Oregon. CTGR has 5,400 enrolled members and is governed by a nine-member Tribal Council elected by the Tribe's voting membership. CTGR offers its members an array of services and programming, including social services, housing, education, health and wellness, economic development, natural resources, cultural services, and more.

The CTGR has a six-county service area in Oregon covering Marion, Multnomah, Polk, Tillamook, Yamhill, and Washington Counties. The programs and services listed in this fact sheet are available to CTGR enrolled members and relative families that meet the eligibility criteria described in the entries for each program and service. Some resources are available to enrolled members of other tribal nations and community members, as noted in the service area and eligibility criteria listed along with each program and service.

Relative definitions as outlined in the CTGR Children and Families Ordinance

CTGR definition of relative: Any person who is related to the child by blood or marriage, or any person who has established a Significant Familial-Type Relationship to the child (Chapter 301 Part 1, \(e\)\(23\)).

Significant Familial-Type Relation is a long-term and ongoing personal relationship with the child in which an individual (Chapter 301 Part 1, \(e\)\(24\)):

- a) Has or had physical custody of the child or resided in the same household as the child;
- b) Supplied, or otherwise made available to the child, food, clothing, shelter, and incidental necessities and provided the child with necessary care, education, and discipline; and
- c) Through interaction, companionship, interplay, and mutuality helped fulfill the child's psychological needs for a parent as well as the child's physical needs.
